President's Message

Well, I made it through Thanksgiving - actually two since we've acquired another family due to a pending wedding. When is the next Overeaters meeting? Hope it's not until January. Now, on to Christmas and hope your holiday season and shopping don't get you too frazzled.

No pearls of wisdom this month. Just an update on what's going on. Saturday, Dec 7th is the Fly Fishing Expo at Holt High School, 9:00 to 4:00. The December club meeting is at the Blue Gill Grill in Haslett starting about 6:00. We will have a speaker and Nomad Anglers will have some items Tommy says we can't live without. And, mark your calendar for the May 14th banquet at Eagle Eye. We will have a couple on-site raffles the evening of the banquet. One for a large (meaning expensive) item or two and another auction for a ton of the stuff we really, really want. We will also have a speaker/presenter and may announce who and what that is next month. The banquet is an official club meeting, but please bring your significant other(s).

The Blue Gill Grill meeting is open to families and or spouses/partners - whomever you wish to bring along. Everyone is on their own for what they want to eat and drink from the regular menu. Last year's meeting was well received and attended. Even the owners of the BGG wanted us back (I didn't tell them I was President!).

Also at the December meeting the club will have the official vote on the proposed by-laws. Following the current rules, the proposed changes were presented at the November meeting. No changes were brought up, so now's the vote. That will be the only official items on the meeting agenda.

So - see you Saturday (Friday, if you're setting up) and at the Blue Gill Grill on the 10th. Merry Christmas to all.

GLC Fly Expo

As Herb mentioned in his president's message, the GLC Fly Expo is Saturday, December 7th, before our next meeting so I plan on having this newsletter out before that so everyone is aware of the event. Many of you have signed up to help at the expo and that is greatly appreciated. If you are not helping and around this weekend plan on coming out and bringing a friend. It is always a fun time, and an important fundraiser for the GLC.

My apologies if this newsletter ends up being a little sparse on information this month, as many of you know, I am Chairman of this years expo and quite busy right now making last minute arrangements and trying to get out this newsletter also.

More information on the expo can be found at www.fffglc.org

Sunday Fly Tying Nights

By: Mark Johnson

You should have gotten an email about our December Sunday Tying night being cancelled. The restaurant had a Christmas party book for the room that night. We also had a conflict on Novembers tying night with a party at the restaurant and Mark Noel had emailed me about the issue and I decided to wait a few days closer to the event to send out a cancellation and then I just plain forgot to send it out!! So my apologies if someone showed up at the restaurant that night and found no one there. We are scheduled to get back at it in January and hopefully no conflicts will come up. The night in January that is scheduled for tying at Piazano's Restaurant is January 19th. Time is from 6:30pm to 8:30pm. We also have 2 nights scheduled in February at this time, the 2nd., and the 16th. More information on those in next months newsletter.
